Just 12 days after our Halloween mini, it is now the beginning of November and we're back with another great mix of art and historical medals, with a few other rather interesting pieces thrown in as well. Given the quick turnaround, this newsletter is quite brief, so here are a few highlights.

Expo medals are a particular focus, with no less than five different expositions commemorated on medals here. The largest and oldest—this 1851 medal for the Great Expo at the Crystal Palace in London—is impeccably impressive...

Meanwhile, an alluring issue from the 1926 Sesquicentennial Expo held in Philadelphia (to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the United States) is equally as majestic...

If you're a fan of toners, or just space exploration in general, there is a trio of silver medals commemorating some of the earlier missions to the moon, along with the men behind those missions. One such example even features a bit of a goof by the engraver, in that the billowing flag on the reverse shouldn't really be billowing, given the lack of wind on the moon's surface...

Also present is a trio of charmingly engraved love tokens, such as this “Always Ahead” piece...

Lastly, remember not to eat too much candy, as you wouldn't want to feel like the Jesuit priest on the obverse of this crude (in more ways than one) Anti-catholic satirical medal from Belgium...
